

Slovenian Third Age University, CINAGE and Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television

In the nearby park older learners shared their stories of active aging, which various competencies they need for the old age were noticeable. Older people have to cope with emotions, relationships, intergenerational relationships ... In short, they need to have the skills for active citizenship, to understand and improve health, be financially and economically independent, etc.

Based on the stories of active ageing, participants are going to write scenario for short films. The short films will be full of youthful age, experiences, memories ... Of course, participants have professional support – their mentors are student of Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television.

We look forward to participate in intergenerational CINAGE Course!
